THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

NORWICH PEOPLE CONTRIBUTED TO FUND FOR BLIND.
Total is Now $250.00 But None Has Yet Been Disbursed.

The Permanent Blind Relief War Fund management issued a statement recently explaining why none of the money it has raised has been sent to Europe. It was pointed out that the purpose of the fund was such that it had been deemed wise to keep the fund intact for the present.

"True, we have collected up to the present time approximately a quarter of a million dollars," the statement said, "and the entire amount is still intact in various banking institutions in different cities. The expenses of the fund being paid by the executive committee."

The H. C. M. Blind Fund differs from the other war relief organizations. It does not aim at temporary relief, but at permanent reconstructive work which will enable the blinded young soldiers to be self-supporting for the rest of their lives.

It is suggested that the newspaper situation be remedied by importation from Japan; but who would want his Transcript printed on a crepe napkin?—Boston Transcript.

FIRE CHIEF FOLEY INVESTIGATES JORDAN FIRE

Believes Blaze Started Near Piano in Nearby Picture Theatre—Tested Alarm Boxes Friday—Locals Getting Into Temporary Quarters.

Friday George E. Foley, one of the owners of the wooden building in which Thursday morning's fire was supposed to have started, had a contractor visit the site and part of the east wall of the building was pulled down. This was done as the wall was such a position that it might fall at any time and possibly injure someone. The men removed part of the front of the building which was leaning toward the street, endangering the lives of the people that pass by the ruins. Mr. Foley stated that he did not know whether the building would be rebuilt or not.

Principal Damage From Water.
Henry Fryer, whose rooms were in the northwest corner of the building on the second floor, did not suffer much from the fire itself but most of his fixtures and goods were well soaked with water. He had men at the ruins Thursday afternoon and Friday getting out all of his belongings and removing them to another room he had rented for carrying on his business.

How Trust Company Fared.
The Willimantic Trust company was also located in the northwest part of the building on the main floor and as a result did not suffer much from the blaze. All of the fixtures were on pretty well water-soaked and smoked up, but they were removed to the space made for them in the store of George Jordan on Church street. All of their stationary and such which was outside the safe was destroyed but this is not a serious loss.

Jordan Co. Lost Valuable Books.
All the stock of the Jordan Hardware company was not destroyed by the fire but it was soaked with water and smoke. Some of the stock on the main floor and in the basement was not reached by the fire but it was damaged as the result of the floors above giving way and allowing their contents to pile up down below. A number of books which were the complete records of the stock carried by the company were in the desks at the time of the fire and these books are of great money value they were the work of a number of years and their loss will be greatly felt by the firm who could consult these books for directions as to the stock.

Loss Not Determined.
Neither F. D. W. P. Jordan, owners of the building and large owner in the hardware business, could tell how much the firm had suffered by the fire when they were consulted Friday. They would give no statement as to their future plans until the insurance adjusters had gone over the ruins.

Alert Hose Co.'s Officers.
Although the members of the Alert Hose company were up a greater part of the night working on the ruins for the annual election which was held Thursday night. The following officers were elected for the coming year: W. L. Webster, foreman; B. F. Moore, first assistant foreman; B. W. Hills, second assistant foreman; R. W. Hills, secretary; C. C. Smith, treasurer; Elijah Woodward, steward.

FUNERAL
Mary Wright.
The funeral of Mary Wright of New Haven, formerly of this city, was held from local undertakers parlor Friday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. T. F. Bannon officiated at the services at the St. Joseph's church at 2 o'clock. Michael Driscoll, Michael Sullivan, Edward Flynn and William Keegan acted as bearers. Burial was in the St. Joseph's cemetery.

Boy Seems Deficient Mentally.
Joseph Samojak appeared before the city court Friday morning for breaking into a store on Chapman street Saturday night. The boy was but 9 years of age. W. C. Lyman was appointed guardian ad litem and the entered a plea of insanity for the boy. This plea was later withdrawn and Mr. Lyman, who had the boy under his care for some time stated to the court that the boy was not mentally deficient. Rev. P. J. Mooney held the court that from his observation of the boy he thought that the child did not receive proper care at home as his father is a heavy drinker and does not look after the child.

The court decided to continue the case until the boy's term of probation runs out, which is sometime in January, and if he does not behave himself during this time, he will be sent to reform school. The court ordered the boy's father to appear with his son once a week, to report.

Zagars Case Continued.
The case against Diego Zagars, charged with non support of a minor child was the next to come up before the court. The accused entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Miss Nancy Austin, secretary of the United Charities, stated that the man had promised to pay for the support of the child from the time his mother was sent to jail for assault. This the accused failed to do. Zagars told the court that he had sold his property and was going to move to New York, taking his child with him. The court then decided to continue the case for three or four days during which time an investigation will be made of the conditions in New York where the man contemplates taking his child. Bonds were fixed at the same amount as previous.

Odd Fellows Proffer Meeting Place.
The Odd Fellows of this city have extended the orders that were burned out in the fire Thursday morning the use of their rooms for meetings. This is greatly appreciated, as the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters lost all their belongings in the fire as well as a place to hold meetings.

MANSFIELD ROAD CASE
On Trial in Superior Court Friday—Selectman W. F. Storrs Considered Road Safe.

There was a short calendar session of the superior court in this city on Friday morning. Judge Webb stated that there would be no assignment of cases after the one now being heard, but that court would be reopened in this city Dec. 12.

In the case of Weaver vs. Dubuc, both of Killingly, judgment was in favor of the plaintiff to recover $371.88 on a promissory note. One witness was examined by the court and the signatures were identified.

Nolan vs. Mansfield.
The case of Nolan vs. the town of Mansfield, which was being heard when court was adjourned Thursday was then brought up for hearing. It was a matter of damages to the town of Mansfield as to the condition of the road and of the width of the machine which ran off of the bank. Most of the witnesses to be examined at Friday's hearing were for the plaintiff although W. F. Storrs, the selectman of the town of Mansfield took the stand near the close of the session and he told of the condition of the road and of the plaintiff's claims to his honor. The matter was then referred to the jury to be decided at a later date.

From docket.
In the above entitled matter the appellants move to have said judgment reversed and an appeal entered from the docket because:

1—There was never any valid order from the probate court for the district of Windham, admitting the will or paper in question to probate as the last will and testament of Margaret Page from which a valid appeal could have been taken.

2—Because said appeal was null and void and the probate court without the jurisdiction of the superior court.

3—Because the probate court could pass no valid order admitting the will or paper offered as the last will and testament of Margaret Page to probate without appointing the executor named therein and ordering said executor to file a bond and because no such order was ever made or passed by the probate court.

4—Because the executor named in the said will was never approved by the said probate court, and said executor of her own motion filed said will in accordance with statute made and provided.

WANT JUDGMENT REOPENED
Attorneys for Appellants in Page Will Case Make Another Move.

Attorneys P. J. Danahy and Walsh, counsel for the appellants in the Page will case, filed a motion in the superior court Friday which they state that the appeal which they have just got through hearing in the court was an illegal one. For this another reason the attorneys asked that the judgment be reopened and the appeal entered from the docket. If this motion is allowed the case will be argued before the court and this will mean an additional expense to the Page family already incurred. It is now thought that the motion will be argued before next week's session of the court. The motion is as follows: Motion to reopen judgment and

SECRETARY BLACK WILL PRESENT TENTATIVE PLAN
Believes That District Supervisors Would Improve State's Health.

If the general assembly gives legislative sanction to the policy of the state board of health for the appointment of district supervisors it is the opinion of the board that local authorities will be brought into closer official relations with state health officials and it will be easier to establish a system of cooperation in the work of safeguarding the health of the state.

Dr. John T. Black, secretary of the board, has prepared a tentative plan for the appointment of four. Each supervisor will have a district and will be required to reside in it. But this requirement is in regard to residence, in his work, he is restricted to his territory. A supervisor may be called on at any time for work in a district other than that in which he lives. He will be empowered to act in a supervisory capacity in his relations with the local health officers. The qualification for supervisor will require that he shall be a practicing physician, or a person having a special training in health matters. It is believed that the salary will be fixed at not less than $2,000 a year.

In speaking about the matter Dr. Black said Wednesday afternoon that at present local authorities were hindered in their efforts to trace the cause of an epidemic to its source because their authority was restricted to their towns. He spoke of conditions in Waterbury where there is an outbreak of smallpox. The health officer of the town cannot go into any neighboring township to discover the source of the disease and the power of the state board of health is so limited at the present time that it cannot extend to the local health officers the assistance which they need in their investigations. The office of supervisor would form a connecting link between the town and the incumbent would have the power to go into any town and exercise authority in tracing outbreaks of disease to their source. The supervisors would be subject to the authority of the state board entirely. Dr. Black believes that the success of the plan will depend in a great measure, if not entirely, on the ability of those appointed to fill the requirements. The supervisor would be required to give his entire time to his duties and would not be allowed to engage in any other occupation. In the case of a physician it would mean that he would be obliged to give up his practice.
